IMPORTANT DETAILS

Conference Purpose

New York ReLeaf is a state program promoting management and care of our state's community trees. It is a cooperative effort coordinated by the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) and the NYS Urban and Community Forestry Council (NYSUCFC) with major funding supplied through the USDA Forest Service. The goal of New York ReLeaf is to create partnerships among tree professionals, citizen volunteers, educators, government, and the private sector. The annual State Conference brings together these interested parties from all of the state's nine regions to share experiences, ideas, and new information.

Plan a Tree: Good Planning – Healthy Forests

All tree enthusiasts are invited to the Annual NYS ReLeaf Conference to be held July 14-16, at SUNY New Paltz. You won't be disappointed! The conference, "Plan a Tree: Good Planning – Healthy Forests", will focus on the importance of good planning to a healthy community forest. A special set of workshops on Saturday, July 16, are dedicated to those involved in community planning. Members of Planning and Zoning boards can receive their annual required training credits in one day (subject to approval by their local community's governing board).

Willie Janeway, Regional Director of DEC Region 3, will be this year's keynote speaker. Workshop topics include Trees and the Planning Process; Promoting the Use of Native Plants; Emerald Ash Borer Update; The Latest in Technology; Planning for Trees in Subdivisions.

The tours always offer a special look at the area outside of the classroom and the Hudson Valley has some spectacular sights! Friday afternoon's tours include a guided tour of the gardens at the world famous Mohonk Mountain House and a visit to a nearby emerald ash borer infestation in Ulster County. Finishing up the conference on Saturday will be a tour of Huguenot Street, a national historic landmark, and a regional winery.

Who Should Attend?

All those involved in the field of urban and community forestry; educators, volunteers, tree commissions, arborists, horticulturists, landscape architects, planners, nursery professionals, community/state/utility foresters, local government officials, public works and parks departments, and researchers; also those in need of New York State DEC pesticides, SAF, ISA, Certified Nursery Professional (CNP) and Landscape Architect (LA) re-certification credits. Credits have been applied for and are pending approval. For more information on credits available, please check www.nysurbanforestrycouncil.com or call Betty Shimo at (607) 204-0244 for further details.

Dr. Gerald Benjamin, Director, Center for Research, Regional Education and Outreach, SUNY New Paltz

Mary Kramarchyk, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Chris Mercurio, President, NYS Urban and Community Forestry Council

9:00-10:00 am

Keynote

Willie Janeway will give an overview on the leading environmental challenges facing New York communities and NYS Department of Environmental Conservation's priority initiatives in the Hudson Valley and Catskill region. From maintaining water quality and biodiversity to supporting the economic revitalization of the region to addressing climate change, trees and forests are part of the solution to address emerging environmental and economic issues, create green communities and jobs, and ensure a healthy environment for future generations.

Willie Janeway, Regional Director, Department of Environmental Conservation, Region 3

10:00-10:15 am

Coffee Break, visit Exhibits, Student Union Building, 2nd Fl., Lobby.

10:15-11:15 am (workshops-choose one) Workshop 1

Trees and Water Quality

With overflowing storm systems, soil erosion due to development and the need for clean water on the rise, trees when planted as "green infrastructure" can replace traditionally used grey infrastructure to avoid disastrous affects under these conditions. Gain insight from the users of green infrastructure.

Bram Gunther, Chief of Forestry, NYC Parks & Recreation Department

Workshop 2

EAB Update-The Ulster Experience

Biology, identification and locations of the EAB in New York State and beyond will be presented along with a detailed status report of the Hudson Valley infestation and related activities on the ground.

Jerry Carlson, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Rob Cole, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation

Mike Callen, Region 3 Forester, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation

Mark Whitmore, EAB Outreach Program Coordinator, Cornell University

11:15-11:30 am

Coffee Break, visit Exhibits, Student Union Building, 2nd Fl., Lobby.

11:30 am-12:30 pm (workshops-choose one)

Workshop 3

Green Infrastructure in Communities

Actual users and funding sources will share their experiences relating to the uses, benefits, installation and financing of different types of green infrastructure projects including green roofs, rain gardens and tree planting projects - all at the local level.

Suzanna Randall, Green Infrastructure Coordinator, NYS Environmental Facilities Corporation

Karen Arent, Landscape Architect

Karen Emmerich, AICP, PP, Lehman & Getz Engineering, P.C.

Workshop 4

Promoting Native Plants

The use of native plants helps maintain the natural ecosystem in which they grow, adapting to the changing environment and requiring little care and maintenance than most non-natives. Benefits, availability of plants and viability are some of the questions to be answered by the workshop speakers.

David Lee, Manager, NYS Saratoga Nursery

12:30-1:30 pm

Lunch, Multi-Purpose Room, 2nd Floor, Student Union Building

1:30-5:00 pm (Rain or Shine) (choose one)

Tour 1-EAB Tour (Kingston Area) Delimitation Area

This tour will take us through emerald ash borer (EAB) infested sites in the Saugerties area. Participants will get to see this invasive pest up close! (Please wear appropriate footwear and clothing.)

Jerry Carlson, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Rob Cole, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Mike Callan, Region 3 Forester, NYS Dept of Environment Conservation Mark Whitmore, EAB Outreach Program Coordinator, Cornell University

Tour 2-Mohonk Mountain House Garden Tour

Mohonk, or "lake in the sky", is a sparkling wonder, tucked away at the top of the Shawangunk Ridge. Be inspired as you tour the awardwinning gardens of the Mohonk Mountain House. (Reserve early-Space is limited to the first 40 registrants.)

Workshop 5

Where the Tree Meets the Pavement/ReTree Schenectady-A Case Study

Are tree roots heaving your sidewalks? Are your parking lots one big heat island? The conflict between trees and pavement can be resolved, or better yet, prevented. Dr. Bassuk describes how trees and pavement can coexist.

Faced with the rising loss of trees and limited funding (sound familiar?), ReTree Schenectady was founded in 1991 and has planted over 3,000 trees since then. How did they do it? They share their ongoing success story.

Nina Bassuk, Cornell University Horticulture Department Betsy Henry, ReTree Schenectady

Workshop 6

Planning for Trees in Subdivisions (Part 1)

The Legislative Process, Trees in Conserved Lands

There will be a discussion of the planning process municipalities follow in New York State and it will offer suggestions on how tree advocates can participate in this process in order to provide a legal basis for conserving and enhancing our urban and community forests.

What can management do for land in conservation, or should we just leave it alone? This workshop will also explore how management can help achieve conservation goals and will offer ideas on resources available to help municipalities plan for and implement forest management programs in New York State.

Dennis Doyle, Director, Ulster County Planning Department

Laura Heady, NYS Department of Environmental Conservation Hudson River Estuary Program and Cornell University

9:30-9:45 am

Coffee Break, visit Exhibits, SUNY New Paltz Campus, Student Union Building, 2nd Fl., Lobby.

9:45-10:45 am (workshops-choose one)

Workshop 7

New York's Urban Forest: A Street Tree Study

The urban forest is all around us, whether it consists of park trees, street trees or in our school yards. New York's urban forest is as diverse as the state itself. A report and analysis of community inventories will give a snapshot on how to better manage the urban forest.

Fred Cowett, PhD. Candidate, Department of Horticulture, Cornell University

Workshop 8

Planning for Trees in Subdivisions (Part 2)

Preservation of Existing Trees, Planting New Trees

Caliper should be just one of many criteria municipalities use to select trees for preservation when land is developed. The other considerations are discussed, as well as how they can be used in an approach that works for planners and developers.

The planning necessary to assure the long-term growth and health of trees planted in new subdivisions, how to anticipate and deal with the problems of soil disturbance and excavation from road-building and site clearance and what special planting techniques may be necessary because of the circumstances at these sites will also be discussed.

Al Wegener, Landscape Consultant

Nina Bassuk, Cornell University Horticulture Department

10:45-11:00 am

Coffee Break, visit Exhibits, SUNY New Paltz Campus, Student Union Building, 2nd Fl., Lobby.

11:00 am-12:00 pm (workshops-choose one)

Workshop 9

Ordinances With Teeth That Cannot be Extracted

Tree protective ordinances do more than protect trees. Share your experiences and learn how to create or improve local tree laws. Andy Hillman, Davey Resource Group Local Case Study Presenters

Workshop 10

If You Fail To Plan, You Plan To Fail-Developing a Management Plan

Management plans help community tree activities stay on course and make progress toward increasing tree canopy and helping public trees stay healthy. Begin your course to success by learning about urban and community forestry management plans.

Andy Pleninger, Urban Forestry LLC

Brian Liberti, Forester, City of Rochester

12:00-12:30 pm

Box Lunch, SUNY New Paltz, Student Union Building, 2nd Fl., Lobby

12:30-1:30 pm (choose either the workshop OR the tour) Workshop 11

Benefits of Trees to the Urban Environment

Trees provide us with many social and economic benefits when planted for aesthetics or for utility purposes. Harness the benefits and develop a strategy to build community support for trees.

Dave Bloniarz, PhD., USDA Forest Service Northern Research Station, Urban Natural Resources Institute

12:30-4:00 pm

Saturday Afternoon Tour

Huguenot Street Tour/Winery Tour and Tasting
